Tax Consultancy

Non-profit organizations are becoming increasingly popular because they serve the public interest and demonstrate sustainability without a profit motive. For a variety of charitable activities, various tax concessions are available. In this respect, an exact knowledge of the pertinent tax regulations is required in order that an optimal consultation might be ensured.

Our experienced and competent consulting activities in the field of tax declaration include the preparation of accounting, financial statements and tax returns as well as tax planning advice. We can assist you in the critical phase of startup by helping you to find the right legal form tailored to your needs and guiding you from the first day of your foundation.

Meanwhile, there are in this area numerous company forms besides the classic form of association, e.g. non-profit limited liability companies, incorporated societies or foundations. Once recognized as one of such companies, you will benefit from various tax concessions right from the beginning. To this end, it is crucial to coordinate during the foundation process with the tax office and, if required, foundation authorities. Here, we can take charge of all relevant works as your partner with many years of expertise.

Especially in the cases where activities eligible for preferential tax treatment and ineligible activities are interlinked, precise knowledge capable of clearly discerning profit-oriented and not-for-profit (NFP) areas within and outside of companies and institutions is necessary to ensure a friction-free implementation of tax-related obligations. To this effect, long-term accruals are the interface and determinant factor for preferential tax treatment or not. Our assistance in this matter will enable you to sort out your activities and address the tax office with more confidence and legal security.

The popularity of foundations is also constantly growing because large-scale estates, along with their proceeds, can be invested under preferential tax treatment for their earmarked public interest-oriented objectives. This way, generous post-tax amounts can be revalued under tax exemption. Given such subtleties, in order to provide tax advice and guidance leading to the targeted outcomes, a solid know-how and understanding in both worlds is of vital importance. With long-standing extensive experience in this area, we are a reliable and competent partner at your side.
