The results of accounting are a substantial basis for business decisions of every entrepreneur. The bookkeeping entries and accounting reports provide the key figures and facts about the assets and financial positions as well as operational results of your company. By accounting, therefore, we mean more than a mere allocation of accounts and preparation of accounting documents.

In addition to the financial bookkeeping, for example, it includes the establishment and ongoing management of cost accounting tailored to each particular requirement. Our specially trained expert workers see to it that all necessary bookkeeping entries be promptly and carefully processed and yield evaluations which provide you with a solid basis for decision-making and future actions.

For us, it's our natural course of action to provide solutions to importing sub-ledger accounting data, such as billing software or POS software as well as document and data exchange over high-security SSL connections.

The type and scope of our accounting services envisaged for implementation will be individually attuned in consultation with you.

The scope of our services includes in particular:

- Preparation and organization of a financial accounting system
- Preparation and ongoing management of investment accounting
- Preparation and ongoing management of cost accounting
